DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v Eagle Mfg Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

2. Claims 1-5 of this application conflict with claims 1, 3, 4, and 6 of Application No. 09/984,982. 37 CFR 1.78(b) provides that when two or more applications filed by the same applicant contain conflicting claims, elimination of such claims from all but one application may be required in the absence of good and sufficient reason for their retention during pendency in more than one application. Applicant is required to either cancel the conflicting claims from all but one application or maintain a clear line of demarcation between the applications. See MPEP § 822.

There are no differences between the instant claims and the referenced claims of the conflicting application although the instant claim 1 claims the thickness of the non-magnetic support in lieu of the centerline average surface roughness of the magnetic layer as in the referenced claim 1. The thickness of the non-magnetic support in combination with the surface projections on the magnetic layer would inherently result in the centerline average surface roughness of the magnetic layer. Therefore, instant claim 1 essentially claims a magnetic recording medium that is identical to the magnetic recording medium claimed in the referenced claim 1. Instant claim 2 is just a recitation of the property claimed in referenced claim 1. Claims 3-5 are verbatim to claims 3, 4 and 6 of the conflicting claim.
